

Poets Speaking up to Adani

A Day of Poetry in Support of the Stop Adani Campaign

30 October 2017
8.00am–8.00pm

*Plumwood Mountain:
An Australian Journal of Ecopoetry and Ecopoetics*

Web:
<http://plumwoodmountain.com>
Email:
info.plumwoodmountain@gmail.com
Managing Editor: Anne Elvey

Join us at Plumwood Mountain journal or follow us on social media as poets from Australia speak up in support of the Stop Adani campaign.

You can read, hear or view work from Bonny Cassidy, Anne M Carson, Tricia Dearborn, BR Dionysius, Michael Farrell, Susan Fealy, Claire Gaskin, Phillip Hall, Susan Hawthorne, Jill Jones, John Kinsella, Anthony Lawrence, Rose Lucas, Alex Skovron, and many others each hour during the day.

The further unearthing of major deposits of coal in the Galilee Basin in Queensland and the proposed rail link to and development of the port at Abbot Point will have series impacts on climate change, local lands and waters, and the Great Barrier Reef.

For more information visit:
<http://www.stopadani.com/>

Acknowledging traditional owners throughout Australia, especially the Wangan and Jagalingou peoples whose lands are impacted by the proposed Carmichael mine and rail link. Plumwood Mountain journal and the participating poets do not claim to speak for the Indigenous owners.

Acknowledging the Boonwurrung people on whose lands the journal is administered.

Facebook:
<http://www.facebook.com/PlumwoodMountainJournal/>

Twitter:
@plmwdmountain

Hashtag:
#StopAdani

Photos: CSIRO [CC BY 3.0 (<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/3.0/>)], via Wikimedia Commons